

Street Therapy What is a Playologist?

A Playologist is a prolific professional with a passion for putting people and professional practitioners on a path of pure potentiality through the power of play. In less playful terms, I am a visionary and master of inner wisdom who “enjoys an everyday measure of un-adult-erated pleasure”® playing the biggest game in town, hands down – Corporate Health Dynamics (CHD) Street Therapy. My passion is to teach others, most importantly our youth, how to do the same.

A Playologist specializes in advancing the evolution of human potential and addressing the question, “With all the advances that have been made in science and technology, why do we, as a people, continue to experience disease, incivility, poverty, and interactional injustice at an alarming rate?” The culprit is, “the powerful influence of the infamous streets” – a.k.a. Satan.

As a Certified Playologist who accentuates the re-creation application of CHD Street Therapy, my focus is not set on treating the results of poor behavior or in addressing the homeless population as so many people mistakenly infer. I specialize in restoring individuals’ natural beauty and the pure potentiality common to every human being who has ever been limited by street influence.

Through inspirational speaking and motivational training that’s dynamic and entertaining, I get people excited about looking beyond the limitations of mind design and learning how to enjoy core behaviors that will prevent them from having to be treated for poor behaviors. CHD Street Therapy is the future and the gap that science and technology have failed to tap.

The significance of CHD Street Therapy lies in its simplicity, synchronicity, and ability to mirror nature. First, the CHD model was designed with the human being in mind. Hence, the model serves as a representation of the human body and its dynamics, the epitome of excellence, and a perfect example of how any organizational system should conduct its business.

Second, I chose to use the term “streets.” Why? The streets are where we experience the greatest influence on our minds, bodies, and spirits. Scientifically and realistically, we are all metabolic end products of our sensory experiences and our interpretation of those experiences. What we experience on the streets is what we become. Therefore, street influence is inclusive and is the force behind why we struggle with expressing our inherent beauty. Human potential needs to be explored, not exploited. Exploitation is the main reason science and technology refuse to empower humanity to overcome generations of adversity.

Third, therapy is a process of clarity in spiritual health, healing, and prosperity! My passion is in using this therapeutic methodology for teaching you how to live a Passionate Life of Adventure and Youthfulness™ (PLAY). PLAY aligns our minds with our spiritual design – a common grace that we can all embrace – a.k.a. God. The CHD model is the future of personal mastery and serves as a consciousness founded on Qualitative Recreation Lifestyle Principles that unfold into an infinite number of opportunities and possibilities for empowering anyone or any organization to achieve his, her, or its vision with precision. Welcome to the future!
